Twenty-five candidates for Town Council filed nomination papers by the Tuesday, August 27th deadline, in what may become the "Re-Match of 1985," with many candidates associated with the present council minority wishing to reestablish their majority.

The at-large race to elect three councilors has eight candidates, including former Town Manager Edward A. Caba. Also in the race are incumbents Edward Borgatti and Thomas Locke, former Councilor Valentine R. Moreno, former Councilor Stephen Cincotta, and residents David Skolnick and Dario Mercadante.

This race already is being termed as an extremely PRECINCT ONE incumbent Councilors Frederick Nardi and Mario DeLucchi will run unopposed, as will PRECINCT 3 incumbents Jack Shaughnessy and Town Council President Donald Rheault.

PRECINCT 2 incumbents Daniel Lacienski and Dorothy Nelson will face a last-minute challenge staged by former Councilor William Herd, the person Lacienski unseated four years ago.

PRECINCT 4 incumbent Neil Blatt is seeking reelection at presstime. Present Precinct 4 Councilor Paul Trimboli is seeking election in Precinct 5. Also in the Precinct 4 race are former Councilor Fred Serra, and residents Anthony Saracino and Fred Harpin.

The two PRECINCT 5 seats will be contended for by present Councilor At-Large Andrew C. Gallano, who withdrew from the at-large race, incumbent Philip DeForge, and Trimboli, who relocated from 420 Main Street to 871 Main Street, causing a change in his precinct address.

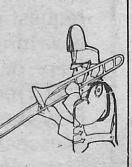

PRECINCT 6 incumbents Peter Longo and Alfred Trehey are seeking re-election and will face a challenge from former Councilor Benjamin Lockhart, the man Longo unseated in 1983 in a close three-way

Precinct 7 Added By Council Vote

by Stuart Parker Advertiser News Political Writer

DAVID SKOLNICK of Rowley Street is seeking a seat on the Agawam Town Council.

David Skolnick Announces Council At-Large Bid

A very well-known individual of Agawam has entered the race for councilman-at-large for the upcoming fall elections. His name is David Skolnick, who resides at 331 Rowley Street.

He was elected town meeting member and elected chairman of Precinct 3 for more than 10 years under our past form of government. He has served the citizens of Agawam for over 35 years in many roles and capacities, from being the elected Agawam Democratic Town Committee chairman, to being the president of the Agawam PTA Council

Skolnick is the recipient of the WWLP TV Channel 22 "Outstanding Servant of the Public Award" for dedicated service to Agawam.

"I have absolutely no vested interests nor allegiances in Agawam, nor have I any axes to grind. My sole concern is to represent all the people of Agawam to the best of my ability. My proven, stable, and mature leadership will help to protect Agawam's integrity.

With vivid memories of the past, I view the future of Agawam with great optimism, Skolnick said. He said the time has come for "a breath of fresh air on our Town Council. A vote for me, in reality, is a vote for you and for responsible government. I look to a successful future for Agawam.

The Agawam Town Council has accepted a state mandate to add at least one new precinct to the town's present six, voting to dissect Precinct 2 into northerly and southerly halves, thereby creating Precinct 7.

This new format will take effect in November 1987 and will reduce the average precinct population to below 4,000 inhabitants.

The 1985 state census reported a town population of 24,612, leaving the present six precinct average above 4,000 each, a violation of state statutes.

Though virtually all town officials agree the census figures are 3,000 to 5,000 residents below the total population count, officials attribute the low figure as a result to unwillingness by citizens to complete and return census forms

Precinct 2 Divided Up

Precinct 2 is being divided up from Springfield Street heading west, to North Westfield Street heading north, up North Street Extension west, and westward through Provin Mountain.

The southern half will become Precinct 7, while the southern half will continue as Precinct 2.

Other minor adjustments in Precincts 4, 5, and 6 were recommended by council Redistricting Committee Chairman Jack Shaughnessy to maintain precinct populations between a state authorized low of 3,164 inhabitants and a high of 3,368. The council adopted the changes.

The effect the additional precinct will have on the distribution of Town Council representation caused considerable dialogue among councilors at the August 26th meeting.

The SCHOOL COMMITTEE RACE presently has nine candidates running for seven seats, but it is likely to drop to eight candidates as Agawam Police patrolman Ronald Brown's municipal employment will bar him from taking a comittee seat.
School committee incumbents Rosemary Sandlin,

The council is scheduled to convene on Tuesday, September 3rd, to select two ballot proposals about the council's makeup. The town presently has 15 councilors - three elected at-large and two elected from each of the town's six precincts.

In non-binding straw votes, nine councilors voted to place a proposal before voters for the creation of eight at-large council seats, with one councilor from each of the seven precincts.

Using this formula, the council will continue to have 15 members.

A proposal for a nine-member council, all elected townwide, received six votes of support, as did a proposal for one councilor per percinct and four elected at-large (reduce council to 11 members).

Elect A Majority Of The Council

A majority of councilors, including Council President Donald Rheault, Shaughnessy, Andrew Gallano, and Philip DeForge, have urged the town to proceed with more at-large representation, thereby allowing voters to elect a majority of the council.

Precinct 6 Councilors Alfred Trehey and Peter Longo, however, urged continued emphasis on strong precinct representation. Both cite townwide races entail time and financial resources not available to all candidates. They also said neighborhood issues could be left unaddressed.

The council vote on September 3rd will be binding. The proposed ballot questions will then go before the state legislature, which will then be asked to vote to allow local residents to act on the proposals as a town charter amendment.

Jessie Fuller, Roberta Doering, John Walsh, and Walter Balboni are seeking reelection, while incumbents Raymond Saracino and Bernadette Conte are not.

New challengers include Ronald Watson, Richard Kiddy, Louis Massoia, and Brown.

The town's municipal election is Tuesday, November 5th. All candidates have until September 11th to withdraw their names from the ballot.

Trimboli To Run In 5, Scores Gallano Run

"I am pleased to announce my candidacy for Town Council in Precinct 5 to present the voters with a choice between my record over the last two years and Councilor Andrew Gallano, said Councilor Paul Trimboli

"Though I currently represent Precinct 4 on the council, I have since relocated, and hope to earn the plurality of support among the voters of Precinct 5 as I have enjoyed in Precinct 4. It is also my intention to continue in my representation of Agawam on the Hampden County Advisory Board.

"Councilor Gallano's comment over my change of address, printed in last Friday's Springfield Morning Union, that, 'Trimboli probably lives under a bridge in a sleeping bag,' is a personal hack by Gallano that's not worthy of response.

"Unlike Gallano, I don't own my own home, I rent; I don't drive a new Chrysler, I drive an old Dodge. I make no apology that I have to work for a living. And I doubt the voters will select a candidate based on the size of his bank-book. I believe the voters will select a candidate based on his record.

"In the same interview in the newspaper, Gallano said I was 'harping on one issue,' when I pointed out the law suit he initiated against the town has already cost the taxpayers $20,000.

"Though this is a grave betrayal of the public trust, I can assure Gallano that is not the only issue of why he is a poor councilor - this is only the beginning.

"Among other issues which need to be addressed include Gallano's statement in the Springfield Daily News prior to hiring Edward Caba as town manager, that he (Gallano) was against hiring Caba because Caba lacked the 'experience and education' as Gallano said was required by the charter.

"Then, when a majority of the councilors determined Caba's job performance was not adequate, Gallano referred to the council majority as "ruthless thugs." "What could have caused this drastic change?

"Could it have been, as Gallano admitted during the public hearing held to remove Caba, that Gallano was in Caba's office three days a week?

"Did Gallano want to keep Caba to help Agawam, or was Caba the only manager to pay call to Gallano's every beck and whim?

"I am proud to say I voted to remove Caba from the manager's post, and I am also proud to say I voted for the hiring of new manager Reid Charles.

"Though Gallano argued and voted against Charles, there can be little question Charles has brought professionalism into the town hall.

"Charles has thus far shown the ability to think on his feet, and has not allowed any one councilor to interfere in his administration.

"Under our present form of government, with the manager appointed by the council, and the council elected by the people, it is essential the integrity between the legislative and administrative branches of government be maintained if we are to avoid the political fiascoes of the past.

"It is unfortunate Gallano attempted to blur the distinction between these branches by supporting a petition for the people to vote on Caba for manager, which was ruled to be illegal by our town solicitor, when at the same time, Gallano has fought my every effort to create a mayoral form of government so the people could legally vote for the town administration.

"The point remains that Gallano's actions and rhetoric just don't add up, and all I can say at this early date is that I doubt Gallano has used his office in a positive manner to help the town, but has become obsessed with how much he can help himself.

"I look forward to the development of this campaign and for the opportunity to explain my accomplishments to date, and to expound on accomplishments for the future."

Pisano Named Permanent Deputy Fire Chief

Lieutenant David A. Pisano has been promoted to the position of permanent deputy fire chief of the Agawam Fire Department, effective August 25th, according to Town Manager Reid Charles and Fire Chief Russell Jenks.

Pisano has been serving as a lieutenant in the AFD since 1982. He is filling the position of deputy chief due to the promotion of Jenks to fire chief earlier this year.

Pisano is a certified E.M.T. and was supervisor of the department's E.M.T. personnel.

Pisano was appointed to the AFD as a firefighter on January 2nd, 1977.

He has an associates degree in fire science as well as having other fire service and management certificates.

He resides at 245 Valley Brook Road, Feeding Hills, with his wife, Donna, and their four children, David Jr., Heather, William, and Shauna.

New Precinct Gives Voters Rare Opportunity

With the recent addition of Precinct 7 (actually splitting the present Precinct 2 in half due to the large population in the Feeding Hills section of town), townspeople will be presented a rare opportunity to seize more control over the Agawam Town Council.

A ballot question MAY appear in the town's municipal election on November 5th concerning this. At presstime, however, it remains to be seen if the mechanisms are in place in time for November 5th.

While several options about how this new precinct will affect the council are being debated, voters here find themselves in the position of electing the MAJORITY of the council, not a MINORITY.

taining one councilor from each of the seven precincts, and then having eight members atlarge. Not only will this continue the popular precinct representatation, but it will provide voters the chance to elect nine councilors on the 15-member body (one from their respective precinct, eight at-large).

Presently, townspeople are only allowed to elect two precinct councilors and three atlarge councilors on the 15-member council (five of the 15 councilors).

Moreover, voters can't elect their town manager - the council does that. It takes eight councilors to hire or fire the town manager. Voters can only elect five of these councilors under the present charter - and in this numbers game, its the voters who've been behind for 13 years.

Realistically, voters in town have always liked precinct representation and we aren't sure if they are about to give it up. We feel this new format avails them the right to have their neighborhood problems guaranteed a voice in town government through their ing their precinct representation as well.

precinct councilor.

At the same time, by electing eight members at-large, as well as their precinct councilor, voters can exercise more control over the council and town government - an inherent problem of the present charter since its inception.

Another advantage of having eight councilors at-large is that in an election year, the dialogue concerning townwide issues will definitely increase with the much larger field of candidates.

ANOTHER OPTION that will give townspeople the right to vote for the majority of the council is the nine-member council at-

This will dramatically reduce the size of the One option we particularly support is main- council, another issue receiving serious consideration.

However, while reducing the council may seem appealing, we again read the town's pulse as wishing to maintain the precinct representation. We could cite many many situations when the precinct representation was often the only salvation for a neighborhood on the council floor.

But by electing eight members at-large as well, it does offer some insurance that precinct problems cannot overwhelm what may be good for all of Agawam.

The 17-member council is in our estimation the most DISTATEFUL OPTION of all. It will add two more precinct councilors, thereby further inflicting MINORITY government on townspeople. It would also be counterproductive to the operation of the council

In this issue, the bottom line remains that townspeople can seize the opportunity to get a better grasp on town government by electing a majority of the council, while maintain-

Vigorous House Agenda

After a few weeks in recess for the summer, the egislature will return after Labor Day to an ambitious

It was hoped that this would be the year the egislature would formally adjourn before year's end. In recent years, the General Court has not formally adourned - instead choosing to feverishly work until ime ran out on the calendar.

Although a lot of work has been done this year, many measures have not been fully completed. Besides the state budget, the only major proposal to be signed into law so far is the Education Reform Bill. This leaves many items yet to be considered this fall

Tax Relief Question Waiting To Be Addressed The question of tax relief, if any, is waiting to be addressed by the Senate. The House, with the Governor's recommendation, passed a one time, $64 million tax cut. Also passed was a stabilization fund for local aid, and most recently, a proposal which would phase out the 7½ percent income tax surtax.

The Senate Chairman of Ways and Means, Pat McGovern, has some reservations about a tax cut, instead preferring to divert any surplus state funds to the unfunded pension debt.

The Governor favors the one time tax cut, the House favors the surtax phase out, and if the Senate favors diverting funds to the pension liability, then this may prove to be the most controversial issue in the next few months. Its final outcome will be interesting to watch.

The House will face several important issues as well. funding mechanism for infrastructure repair, whether it be the Governor's Mass Bank proposal, or some other vehicle, is chief among these.

Everyone agrees the idea is a good one, but there are strong disagreements over the revenue source of the fund. Mass Bank narrowly passed a committee vote.

There is a major test of wills between the Dukakis Administration and the House Taxation Committee Chairman, John Flood, which may hurt the chances of any infrastructure proposal this year.

Presumptive Sentencing Bill Another major bill, the presumptive sentencing bill, must go through another reading in the House. The bill would reform some of the state's criminal codes and establish a system of stricter and predictable sentencing of criminals.

Other issues which will be considered in the House soon are an ethics bill, a transportation bond, and a workmen's compensation reform bill. The workmen's compensation issue has been especially thorny with labor and business proposing separate and distinct ideas. Hopefully, some compromise will finally be ar-

With so many important issues pending, it is unlikely the Legislature will break with past tradition and ad

However, if the General Court can finally address these issues thoroughly, then it will have had good reason to stay in session.

Is Pre-Arranging A Funeral Costly?

Actually, you can make your funeral wishes known at no cost whatsoever. We can provide you (or your lawyer or estate executor) with all the information needed for your funeral with no charge or obligation. It's just a matter of filling out the forms and making your personal wishes known.

Save Two Ways

You can elect to have all the funeral details selected in advance with one of our funeral directors - and keep costs within the limits which you set up. The extent of service and the casket you select will be priced and established for you, now, at today's prices.

The full amount can be set aside in an inflation proof guaranteed trust plan payable when the need arises. Your lawyer or banker can assist you in this, along with the counsel and forms we provide.

There's also the no-payment form of funeral prearrangement in which you simply specify what kind of service and casket you will want. You keep a copy in your family records, as we do, so that at death, your family can act according to your wishes.

In this type of pre-plan, no money is deposited — just your wishes. Call for full details anytime.

Big Polish Festival Set For Westfield Sept. 1st

St. Joseph's Polish National Catholic Church in Westfield will hold its annual Dozynki-Polish Harvest Festival on Sunday, September 1st. (Rain date is September 2nd). The festival will be held from noon to 7:00 p.m., at the parish picnic grounds, Apremont Way and Rte. 10 in Westfield.

The harvest wreath, which will be blessed during the 8:00 a.m., Mass that morning, will be brought to the festival with the procession starting at 2:00 p.m. The dozynki program, highlighted by members of the parish dressed in Polish costumes and singing beautiful Polish folk songs will follow.

Polish folk songs, will follow.

The St. Joseph's Dozynki Dancers will perform traditional Polish folk dances, as well. After the program, the Leo Murawski Orchestra will provide music for your dancing pleasure from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m.

The dozynki kitchen will be open from 12:00 noon until closing. Of course, we'll have the Polish favorites - pierogi, golabki, kapusta, kielbasa, etc., as well as American food. There will be games for the children and the adults. There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited.

As we celebrate Dozynki, a Harvest of Thanksgiving, we are reminded of the old Polish traditions concerning the feast. A wreath, called either "wieniec" or "snop," is blessed by the priest on that day. The wreath, which is mound-shaped, is made of many kinds of grain, herbs, flowers, fruit and vegetables, and is adorned with red and white ribbons.

The wreath is brought to the festival to the landlord and his wife, the "Pan" and "Pani," with the peasant singers offering special harvest songs.

This being a time of merriment, the dancing and feasting begin, for the harvest work is over. Dozynki is a festival of praise and thanksgiving to Merciful God for the goodness He has given us, and it is a time to enjoy these gifts God has given as well.

The St. Joseph's Dozynki Dancers are a group of 24 children from St. Joseph's Parish, Westfield, St. Joseph's Parish, Springfield, and Holy Cross Parish in Enfield. Director of the group is Jeanne Gordner, parish organist.

'Lost Quabbin Towns' To Be Discussed

In conjunction with the Connecticut Valley Historical Museum's summer photograph exhibit, "Visions of a Valley: The Lost Towns of the Quabbin," archivist Albert Whitaker will be at the historical museum to discuss the original purpose and current significance of these rare photos on Sunday, September 8th, from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.

In the 19th century, Dana, Enfield, Prescott, and Greenwich were prosperous towns in the Swift River Valley, with farms, grain mills, and small manufacturing firms. In the 20th century, they were inundated with 412 billion gallons of water in order to create the Quabbin Reservoir to supply Boston and other cities and towns in the eastern end of the state with sufficient

While most of the photographs on display were taken in the 1920's and '30's for appraisal purposes, they have become invaluable documents for historians. They chronicle daily life in the lost towns, as well as reveal how the construction of Quabbin Reservoir affected surrounding towns.

Whitaker will discuss the origin and purpose of this photographic collection, the method by which the State Archives obtained the photos, and their varied

Since 1979, Whitaker has been archivist of the Commonwealth. Prior to his current position, he worked as chief records analyst in the state administration.

A native of Haverhill, Massachusetts, Whitaker was archival manager for that city and active in education as instructor and school committeeman. He received a degree in American History from Northeastern in 1962, a Ph.D., also in American History, with concentration on early New England, from Boston University

The summer bowling season has come to an end. The three Agawam Bowl summer leagues gathered together, on Friday night, August 23rd, at the new Ernie's Steak and Seafood Restaurant on River Road, Agawam, for their banquet.

In the Tuesday night couples league, for the ladies -LIL CASIELLO finished with a 104 average and for the gents, it was RICH SNYDER with a 107 average.

In the Wednesday night women's league, LIL CASIELLO finished the season with a 108 average. The high average bowler in the Thursday morning women's league was DIANE MELLONI.

Surprisingly, it was the women who did the best bowling this summer with LYNDA MAGISTRI putting together 106-118-128 for a 352; DIANE MELLONI with strings of 115-116-124 for a 355; and RENEE JURY with strings of 141-113-109 for a 363, and 113-124-128 for a 365. Topping the women with a 109-111-and a 172 (which we believe is a new house record for women) for a sparkling 392 was LIL CASIELLO.

A good time was had by all at the banquet and the food was great.

Why not get in on all the fun this season and join a bowling league?

PUBLISHER'S NOTE: In this week's column, Marilyn & Dick Curry, our popular local historians, discuss the finding of an antique postal sign that once graced the former locations of the Feeding Hills Post Office.

Lost Feeding Hills Post Office Sign

About four months ago, Feeding Hills native and senior citizen Maude Light contacted us in regards to a

An early Feeding Hills Post Office sign was for sale by a private party in Hampden, Massachusetts. Given the phone number and information, we attempted to contact the owner. For three weeks we called with no answer. One day just by chance, we called again and the party informed us that they had been on vacation. Just before they left, the sign was sold to an antique dealer. Since the dealer was nameless, we dropped the Then, about six weeks ago, another call came from Judy Norwood, an antique dealer in Chicopee. She had the sign and wanted to know if we were interested. The price was $275.00 She expected to take the sign to the Brimfield Flea Market that weekend. We asked for five days to raise the money. It was granted.

Mrs. Light had an idea; by approaching some of the families in Feeding Hills, especially the older ones, we could raise the sum. After many phone calls we had the needed amount. Of course, the antique dealer was happy that the sign was to be at last returned to its original location. She related that the sign seemed quite old and intact, except for the possibility that at some time in the past someone might have touched up the archaic, but original, fancy lettering.

Signs Of Authenticity

The sign was finally delivered! It took little time to identify the post office sign as being the exact one that was illustrated in the town history, page 260. It reads, "POST OFFICE, FEEDING HILLS, ESTABLISHED JULY

It must be remembered that we are not dealing with a piece of finished furniture dating back in time to the

According to his text on American Antiques (1959), Moreton Marsh states that the circular saw came into use about the early 19th century,..."but did not come into general use until about 1840.

Likewise, handmade nails were first manufactured until 1790 when machine made nails came into use. On this basis, we proceeded to carefully examine the newly acquired relic

We finally concluded, at least to our personal satisfaction, that the sign was of early manufacture, at least mid-19th century.

We should also bear in mind that the date alone (1808) does not necessarily imply the sign's date of construction, but might possibly be more significant of the time when the first village post office was established.

Regardless, the actual time period when the sign was made seems of less importance. What does matter is the fact this village relic that once graced our post office many years past has finally been returned.

A Brief Synopsis Of The Village Post Office

Many people do not realize that Agawam has the lowest zip (01001) code in the U.S. postal system. In Edith LaFrancis' Agawam, Massachusetts, A Town Agawam History, she relates, "Previous to the establishment of the first post office, letters were picked up at taverns and stores by a post rider or stagecoach. Letters had no envelopes but were folded and sealed with wax. Ad-Marilyn & Dick Curry dresses were vague and might be "Fourth Parish, West Feeding Light was instrumental in the town obtaining this antique sign that once graced the Feeding Hills Post Office.

Mrs. LaFrancis also states, "The town's first post office was established at Feeding Hills in 1808 with Colonel Sameul Flower as postmaster."

In Article I, Section 8 of the U.S. Constitution, Congress was empowered to establish post offices and post roads. The Constitution was approved with a necessary vote of nine states in June 1788. So, we can readily attest to the fact that the Village of Feeding Hills was among the earliest post offices in the young

According to the town history, there have been 24 postmasters since 1808. The first was Samuel Flower, appointed July 1st, 1808, down to present Postmaster Joseph Dahdah, appointed on October 5th, 1967.

There were two women who occupied this distinguished position: Jennie E. Wright, appointed November 22nd, 1892, and Lora Smith, appointed May 26th, 1920. It is interesting to note that the post office of earlier days was often moved from place to place and occupied some corner of a personal dwelling or

Of further note is the fact that the Wright House on the corner of North Westfield and Southwick Streets, now the popular Crossroads Furniture Store, also served as the local post office during Jennie Wright's term

As to the actual value of the sign - there is truly no way of affixing a dollar sign to a relic of our past history, except for the fact that it was and now is a memorial to the past that once again has returned

When one considers the subject, it is easy to speculate that this wooden memorial has witnessed a number of historic moments in our nation's history. We can only imagine the sign might have been of original vintage (1808), in which case it would have witnessed the numbers of young men from the community who went off to serve during the War of 1812

Perhaps, the sign was used during the War Between the States and WW I and II, in which case it stood sentinel to the countless letters of happiness or sorrow that must have passed the thresholds of our village

Certainly, thre are a few people who remember the sign during the 1930's!

In any event, the sign has once again been returned to Feeding Hills! Apart from its historic value, Dahdah, a collector of postal memorabilia, has stated that such items are in great demand by the general public.

Certainly, this statement concurs with that of the antique dealer who informed us that the "item" would sell fast at a public auction. In any event, our village, as well as our town, may rest assured that another relic of our past has been retrieved, thanks to a handful of concerned people who met the price when time was of importance!

Future Of The Sign

Like Ulyesses, who returned at last from the battle of Troy, the archaic sign rests secured within the confines of its native home. Showing the results of weather and time, the "old fellow" appears quite intact despite its number of years of wandering

MONEY $ENSE

by Charles Alvanos IDS-American Exp. Financial Planner

Your IRA Offers A Variety Of Investments

Your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is not, in itself, an investment. It is not an investment product. Rather, it is a simple plan that allows you to take advantage of immediate tax benefits while it helps you accumulate money over a period of time for eventual retirement. As a wage earner, you are probably eligible for an IRA with several different qualified institutions, such as a bank, credit union, insurance company or an experienced investment firm.

Nearly 40 million people in the U.S. have opened IRAs since 1982, when Congress allowed financial institutions to offer them to wage earners. And, as the money in the accounts begins to accumulate, many investors are looking for ways to make the most of their "nest eggs."

For example, working couples who have made the maximum annual contribution of $4,000 ($2,000 per person) since 1982 will have approximately $14,500 tucked away (assuming a 10 percent rate of interest applied to the account), and may now want to consider different investment vehicles.

Several of the options available today are listed here:

Mutual Funds. A family of mutual funds that allows you to move your investment among the funds within the family is often preferred by financial planners. Just about any type of mutual fund is available, too.

That way, if the fund you're in takes an unfortunate turn of the worse; you can switch to another fund in the family.

Mutual funds offer diversification and professional management of the portfolio. Risk is minimized with mutual funds because investors share in the profits and losses of the fund, according to the number of shares that they hold.

Some mutual funds are designed specifically to meet the needs of IRA investors. These funds offer safety through diversity because they are able to invest in stocks, bonds, money market securities or a combination of all three.

Annuities. Fixed-rate annuities are another way to 01030.

fund your IRA. These annuities pay a fixed rate of return that is generally adjusted annually and offer a range of maturity dates.

If this vehicle is selected, however, you should be aware of any extra charges - such as a surrender charge if you decide to withdraw or transfer your IRA before the annuity matures. But, keep in mind that annuity earnings are already tax-deferred. Therefore, since an IRA's earnings are also tax deferred, you may not want to establish a tax shelter for a tax shelter.

IRA's also may be based on deposit accounts — from floating-rate money market accounts to certificates of deposit with maturities of 10 years or more.

Above all, remember the IRA "ABCs":

*Any individual who gets a paycheck can put up to $2,000 a year into an IRA. For a one wage-earner couple, the maximum is $2,500.

*The contribution is deductible from taxable income, and all earnings accumulate tax-deferred until they're withdrawn.

*Regardless of when you file your 1985 return, you have until April 15th to contribute to your IRA and claim the deduction. Many IRA holders file early and use their tax refund to make their IRA contributions.

*Any money you take out of the IRA before reaching age 59½ or becoming disabled is hit with a 10 percent penalty. Also, you must begin withdrawing money by age 70½ or face a penalty.

*You can open any number of IRAs as long as the total annual contribution doesn't exceed $2,000 (or $2,250 for one income couples). For example, your IRA investments could include $1,000 in a certificate of deposit, $500 in a mutual fund, and $500 in stocks, all in the same year.

*You can move your money among investments — as long as you have the investment trustees or custodians handle the transactions. You can take possession of the money for 60 days and move it, but you must wait 12 months before doing it again.

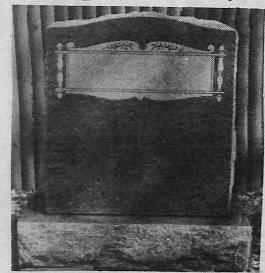

*You don't have to make a contribution every year or make the full $2,000 contribution each year. Many IRAs can be opened for as little as $50 and allow payments to be made throughout the year. Keep in mind, though, that regular investments add up.

It's important to understand exactly what an IRA is and how it can work for you. The main idea is to establish an IRA that is best for you — then make the most of your IRA money.

Since the initial effort to solicit the necessary funds to purchase the sign, several families have contacted us wishing to offer their monetary contribution. We decided to contact Dahdah in respect to the eventual relocation of the sign. He suggested the sign might be placed in its most logical location: the Feeding Hills Post Office, so that everyone could enjoy it.

It was further suggested a suitable plaque accompany the sign so everyone would know of those who 'in its hour of need" had rescued the precious relic from oblivion. It was a Feeding Hills effort all the way!

At sometime in the near future, it is our hope that a

On this basis, we say thanks to those who contributed on such short notice to save a very small but important particle of our local history. A special thanks goes to Maude Light, who persisted in her personal effort to save something of our past!

Childrens' Display Closes For Renovations At Museum

The Springfield Science Museum's popular children's Discovery Place, located in the basement level of the museum, will close for major renovations on September 1st. When the room reopens in late 1986, it will offer all new visitor-involved science exhibits and activities for young people and families.

The original children's department of the Science Museum opened in 1941 and was a nationwide pioneer in the concept of museum exhibits designed especially for youngsters.

Through the years, new trends in museum education have been incorporated to make the Discovery Place a "hands-on" area where children can learn by doing. This participatory approach will be even more evident in the new area.

Each of the many planned exhibits are being specially designed to encourage involvement and exploration. A turtle pond will have a crawl-through observation tunnel and an area where children can handle live turtles under supervision.

An active beehive with a see-through glass will encourage visitors to press a button and listen to the hive sounds. An undersea life exhibit will provide a realistic view of the ocean depths from inside a simulated submarine, with an actual periscope extending through the roof of the building to allow visitors to observe the city from a new perspective.

Physical science exhibits are being designed to invite people to experiment with a variety of lenses and optical devices, try out some early communications equipment, sharpen their computer skills, and learn about industry in a "science at work" section.

A science study room with specimens for identification, microscopes, reference books and charts, and activity boxes will foster individual research. Throughout the new Discovery Place, computers, electronic question and answer games, and audio-visual programs will guide visitors in their investigations.

The renovated Discovery Place will be relocated to a larger area now used for collection storage. The stairway and entrance will be enlarged, and a ramp and elevator will be added to make the area more convenient, accessible and inviting. Planning has been underway for several years, and the project will be financed with funds from the Quadrangle's Capital Funds drive, which is currently underway.

The Science Museum is located on the Quadrangle at the corner of State and Chestnut Streets in downtown Springfield. Hours are Tuesday to Sunday from noon to 5:00 p.m.

FIRE-WISE

by Rusty Jenks Agawam Fire Chief

Laundering Care For Flame Resistive Clothing

Clothing fires produce serious burns and can be fatal. The Agawam Fire Department says to help prevent such fires and burns in children, purchase flame retardant sleepwear and clothing. Take care in laundering such fabrics because the flame resistance can be lost, if laundered improperly.

Follow label instructions carefully:

Detergents: If the label says to use phosphate detergents, be aware that some health departments restrict their use since some are pollutants. Use a heavy duty liquid detergent instead.

Soaps: If labels say to use soap, this does not refer to detergents. Some soaps leave fat deposits which build up on the fabric. This results in loss of resistance and stiffness.

Bleaches: Chlorine bleach may be used for synthetic fabrics but not for flame retardant treated cotton.

Commercial Laundering: The use of strong chemicals in commercial washing may cause the loss of retardants.

Hard Water: Use detergents at least 8.7 percent phosphate in hard water.

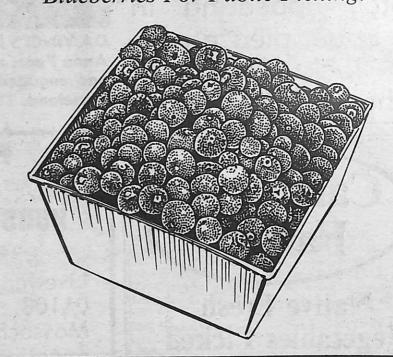

Machine Wash Warm: Water temperature between 105°-120°F is safe for flame retardant fabrics. Hot water of 140°F causes shrinking and wrinkling.

Tumble Dry, Low Heat: Avoid shrinking and stiffness by using low heat.

Fabric Softeners: Use fabric softeners sparingly (once a month) with flame resistant fabrics. Some softeners build up on fabrics.

Serious breeches of discipline such as fighting, abuse of the bus driver or other passengers, damage to the bus, or any other action constituting a threat to safety will result in immediate loss of riding privileges rather than a warning.

2. If you must cross a highway to board the bus, or to get back to your bus stop, wait until the bus driver signals that all is clear and that you may proceed to cross the highway. Always cross in front of the bus.

3. Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before boarding. Do not crowd toward the street and

4. Enter the bus quietly and in an orderly manner Proceed directly to a seat.

5. The driver has been instructed not to wait for you Be on time.

6. Remain in your seat while bus is moving. Pupils are not to change seats while the bus is in motion. Con ditions may require specific seating arrangements. These arrangements are to be made by the driver and/or the principal only.

7. Leave and enter bus only at front entrance door except in case of emergency. Émergency Exit Drills will be conducted during the school year to acquaint children with methods of exit in emergencies.

8. Talking in a conversational voice and tone is permissible. Shouting or excessive loud talking is pro-

9. Undesirable remarks directed to the driver or other students and stirring up adverse behavior are not allowed.

10. Horseplay is not permitted. Students are not to yell, motion, or discharge any objects that will distract or prove offensive to the driver or other motorists and/or pedestrians. Throwing of objects or articles is forbidden.

11. Eating (including beverages) and smoking are not permitted on school buses.

12. Packages other than school materials will not be transported at any time. 13. Pupils are to remain seated at discharge points until the school bus has come to a complete stop Leave quickly and orderly. 14. Pupils must follow instructions given by the bus

15. Damage to buses will not be tolerated. You are responsible for damage to your seat and area during your trip. Report any damage immediately to bus

16. Pupils entitled to transportation may ride only bus assigned to and from school.

17. Students in grades eight to 12 are required to have identification cards, issued by the School Department, in order to ride school buses. These cards must be shown to the driver upon entering the bus. If the driver so requests, the cards must be surrendered by

Such a request will be made only if a disciplinary problem exists. The card will be returned to the student through the principal's office when the student is again entitled to ride.

If the driver turns in a card in the afternoon, the student will be allowed to ride to school the next morning, pending investigation of the complaint by the principal.

Cards will be issued annually. Lost cards must be replaced before the student will be allowed to ride. There will be no charge for the first card but a payment of $1 will be required for replacement cards.

Transferred-in students will be issued a temporary bus pass by the principal. Students leaving school for any reason are required to turn in the I.D. card. Cards will be prepared during the first week of school by the School Department.

18. The Agawam School Committee reserves the right to refuse to transport any pupil who fails to observe rules and regulations or exhibits unacceptable

To apply at any time during the year for free or reduced price meals for your children, complete Steps 1 - 8 on the Free and Reduced Price Meal Application and return to the school within five days of receiving your application. The school will let you know whether or not you are eligible.

Provision of these social security numbers is not mandatory, but failure to provide the numbers will result in a denial of the application for free or reduced price meals. This notice must be brought to the attention of all household members whose social security numbers are disclosed.

Therefore, social security numbers may be used to identify household members in carrying out efforts to verify the correctness of information stated on the application.

These verification efforts may be carried out through program reviews, audits, and investigations. In addition, verification procedures may include contacting employers to determine income; contacting the state employment security office to determine the amount of benefits received; submitting social security numbers to the Department of Public Welfare to verify eligibility for the food stamp program; and checking the documentation produced by household members to

Adult Education Registration

Richard Barry, director of the Agawam Adult Education Program, announces that registration for all classes in the 1985-86 school year will be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, September 11th and 12th, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., at Agawam High School, 760 Cooper Street. Classes will begin September 23rd, 1985.

In the practical arts, the following courses will be offered: Italian cooking, furniture refinishing, cabinet making and woodworking, sewing, tailoring, decorated ware, tole painting, needlepoint, cake decorating, chair caning, and quilting.

Courses offered to complete requirements for a high school diploma include: English I—IV, algebra, business math, U.S. history, general science, life science, and basic psychology.

Those who are registering in Agawam for the first time in order to complete requirements for a high school diploma must bring all records of previous high school work.

For those interested in beginner typing and shorthand, a course will be offered in each subject. There will be no computer courses offered.

A non-returnable registration fee of $25 is required at the time of registration for non-academic courses, and a fee of $20 is required for those working for a diploma or taking high school courses.

The evening of the week each course will be offered will be determined at the time of registration in order to accommodate as many people as possible. Additional information may be obtained at the time of registration.

Student Insurance

Student accident insurance is available to all students. The School Committee provides insurance to cover all students taking part in inter-scholastic athletics. It is the family's responsibility to provide whatever other insurance is desired and a plan is being offered to make this possible.

For $3.50, a student may purchase insurance covering a period of going to school, at school, and going from school each day. Twenty-four hour coverage is also available at a cost of $24 per student. This coverage insures the student during school vacation, holidays, and weekends as well.

The reason that this insurance is available at such a low cost is that it is non-duplicating insurance. Non-duplicating means that other insurance owned by the family, for example, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, must be used first. If other insurance does not cover the complete cost or any part of the cost, then the school insurance plan will take over.

By filing a claim with the insurance company, a parent may be reimbursed for any insured loss.

Athletic insurance is also non-duplicating. A parent may not collect from the school's insurance carrier and from another company for the same accident.

A policy description will be sent to each student's home early in the school year. Please read it carefully and if you have any questions, call the assistant superintendent/business manager at 789-1400, extension 433.

Asbestos In Schools

All of the Agawam's schools have been inspected by the E.P.A. and the Division of Occupational Hygiene of the State Department of Labor.

It was reported that "elevated risk of asbestos exposure is not apparent in any of the schools," and that "the overall condition of the asbestos coverings and the number of preventive, as well as remedial repairs to these coverings, seen in the Agawam Public Schools, suggest that an effective asbestos maintenance program is currently in place."

Asbestos wrappings are inspected and maintained by the town Maintenance Department on a planned, regular basis.

Asbestos is present in all of the town's schools with the exception of the junior high. Regulations require that we notify parents that asbestos is present even though the asbestos is encapsulated. It is the position of the Environmental Protection Agency that the mere presence of asbestos material in buildings does not constitute a health hazard.

In each school, there are appropriate postings and other information is on file for public inspection.

Use/School Property

Permission must be obtained from the office of the superintendent of schools for use of school grounds. No unauthorized use is permitted. Restrictions are posted and town police are so notified.

School facilities and grounds are for the use of Agawam residents; curfew exists one-half hour after sunset and during the hours of darkness on the use of school grounds, except where permission has been granted. The use of any motor vehicle, including motor bikes, motorcyles, mopeds, automobiles, etc., is prohibited at all times. Riding of horses is also prohibited.

Grievance Procedures For Students

Title IX And Handicap (Section 504)

Students 14 years of age or older, who feel their rights have been violated under Title IX or Handicap (Section 504), are to contact: 1. assistant superintendent of schools, 2. advisor for Office of Student Affairs at Agawam High School.

If the grievance cannot be resolved by the advisor for Office of Student Affairs, the following are to be contacted (in this order) to arrive at prompt and equitable resolutions of student's complaints charging violations of Title IX of Handicap (Section 504):

- 1. guidance counselor (in their building)
- 2. assistant principal (in their building)
- 3. principal (in their building)
- 4. superintendent of schools

5. School Committee

Students under 14 years of age may have their parent(s) grieve on their behalf in writing to their building principal. If the grievance cannot be resolved by the building principal, the following are to be contacted (in this order) to arrive at prompt and equitable resolutions of student's complaints charging violations of Title IX or Handicap (Section 504):

1. superintendent of schools

2. School Committee

The Title IX coordinator will be available to assist all grievance committees in arriving at prompt and equitable resolutions of student complaints charging violation of Title IX or of Section 504.

Guidance Department

Students enrolled in the Agawam Public Schools, grade 6 to 12, have been assigned a guidance counselor. At the middle and junior high schools, students are assigned by grade level:

Grade 6 - Helen Cosgriff

Grade 6 - Helen Cosgriff Grade 7 - Jane Williams Grade 8 - Francis Meagher Grade 9 - Jane Lucardi

Students at the senior high school are assigned to one of the following counselors: Elaine Bellico, Paul Cavallo, Judy Cohen, or John Porter. At all schools, any guidance counselor will assist your child if the Counseling of students occurs on a regular basis and includes such areas as academic progress, individual programming, adjustment problems, career and vocational information, orientation of new students, and referrals of students with special needs. The counselors also arrange, administer, and interpret standardized tests. This information is available upon request.

Parents may request parent-teacher conferences, homework assignments during a period of absence, and progress reports.

In addition, guidance counselors at the senior high school offer information concerning career planning, scholarships, financial aid, and college applications.

The guidance counselors sincerely encourage parents to avail themselves of these services and to contact the guidance counselors at any time concerning their children.

Immunizations Of Agawam Students

The School Immunization Law, a section of the General Laws, states: "No child shall be admitted to school except on presentation of a physician's certificate that the child has been successfully immunized against Diphtheria, Pertussis (Whooping Cough), Tetanus, Measles, Poliomyelitis, and such other communicable diseases as may be specified from time to time by the Department of Public Health."

Our school nurses are actively trying to have the Agawam Schools comply with the mandate by sending reminders to parents and guardians to update their children's immunizations during the summer months.

This September, it will be necessary to have all children fully immunized or in the process of immunization for attendance in school. The Health Department urges parents to take care of this requirement as soon as possible.

Please refer any questions to your school nurse, Department of Health Office, or family physician.

Stormy Weather

In case of inclement weather, closing of school or delayed opening notifications will be given over WHYN, WSPR, WAQY, and WWLP. PLEASE DO NOT CALL THE SCHOOLS OR ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

If there is school during bad weather, the FINAL DECISION CONCERNING SCHOOL ATTENDANCE MUST REST WITH THE PARENT.

Also, children should be well-informed by their parents what they are to do in case school closes during regular school hours because of storm conditions.

Department Of Special Services

The Department of Special Services is responsible for implementing Massachusetts Chapter 766 and Federal Public Law 94-142. Both laws require certain mandated services for the education of handicapped children and youth, ages three to 21.

As determined in the end-of-school 1984-85 report, Agawam Public Schools serviced 650 students with varying degrees of special needs. The Special Services Department held a total of 128 team meetings and 478 review meetings during the 1984-85 school year.

Of the 650 total special needs children, 597 children were serviced in the Agawam Public Schools; 41 children in the LPVEC; and 12 children in private day or residential programs. During the year, 134 students were dismissed from services, moved out of the school district, left school, or graduated.

Work To Attain Goals

The Department of Special Services will continue to work toward attaining the following goals for the 1985-86 school year. These goals are viewed as priorities for the department.

First, a commitment to fulfill the mandates of both federal and state education of the handicapping laws by educating, whenever possible, students in the least restrictive educational setting.

The Elementary Developmental Learning Program and the middle and junior high school Bridge Programs have greatly assisted in obtaining this goal. This coming school year a Bridge Program will be added at the high school to complete this program sequence.

Second, a commitment to improve the quality of special education procedures and programs. During the past school year, several in-service workshops were held for all special education staff. The training focused on assessments, pre-referral procedures, individual educational plan, and establishing an entry criteria for special education services.

Plans have been made to implement aspects of the training into policy and procedures for the upcoming school year.

Third, a programmatic emphasis on young children with special needs (ages 3-4), as well as those youths leaving school as a result of graduation or turning 22 years (continues to be a priority).

Second Early Childhood Classroom

The addition of a second early childhood classroom has increased program flexibility and decreased the need to use outside placements. The department has a strong commitment to prevent special needs youth from dropping out of school, and to prepare them for the world of work or future education. This emphasis will be assisted by the addition of the new high school Bridge Program.

Anyone interested in referring a student, or would like additional information, is encouraged to contact the Department of Special Services, 789-1400, extension 441, 442, or 443.

CHAPTER 766

In accordance with Chapter 766, the Agawam Public Schools assures any student who has been found by a team evaluation to be in need of special education, that he/she will receive that education in the least restrictive manner and as closely programmed to the regular education schedule.

Who Is Eligible To Receive Services Under 766?

Anyone between the ages of three to 21, who has not received a diploma, and who has intellectual, perceptual, physical, or emotional problems that would prevent him or her from progressing satisfactorily in a regular education program, is eligible to receive services under Chapter 766.

What Is The Process To Determine If A Student Is In Need Of Services?

After an effort has been made to provide a student with an appropriate learning program within the context of regular education and progress is deemed unsatisfactory, that student may be referred for a team evaluation to determine what his or her needs are.

A referral can be made by a school official, including the teacher, parent, court officer, social worker, physician, or a student may request that he be referred by whomever he chooses, including himself. However, a school referral should be submitted through the Guidance Office.

What Is The Goal Of 766?

The goal of Chapter 766 is to return the student to the regular education program as soon as possible, and while in the process, providing opportunity for continued growth as citizens of the school and community.

For further information on Chapter 766 and what it may be able to do for you, contact your Guidance Counselor or call the Department of Special Services at 789-1400, extension 442.

Gifted Program

Project S.E.E. (Specific Enrichment Education) will again this 1985-86 school year serve fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students of high academic ability Coordinated by William J. Miller, principal of the Benjamin J. Phelps School, the program provides these students with the opportunity to do independent studies and to explore issues and areas not ordinarily covered by the regular curriculum.

Regular Curriculum

An adjunct part of the Project S.E.E. curriculum is an involvement in the Future Problem Solving Program. This program enables students to make knowledgeable decisions after investigating a variety of sources, and enables them to develop skills needed for teamwork and group processes.

Some of the current issues focused upon were drunken driving, quality education, and "The Greenhouse Effect.

This past year, Project S.E.E. had 13 Future Problem Solving teams. Many of the teams were made up of students not directly involved in the formal Project S.E.E. classes.

It was of special encouragement to note that the great majority of these teams met in the afternoon (after school), or in the evenings at the homes of their

This involved many hours of intensive study. The School Department is indeed grateful for the many individuals from the community who coached these teams. We are grateful, too, for those individuals from the community who spent time evaluating booklets from schools in other parts of the state.

Three of our teams were invited to the state competition, with one of the junior teams placing second in both the written and the solution selling competition.

Lawrence Harbeson, home school adjustment counselor, conducted nine evening sessions at which students and their families addressed the effective issues dealing with personal development.

Individual projects were displayed at a Showcase Fair held in June. At this Showcase Fair, students presented a version of William Shakespeare's Comedy of Errors.

The successful language arts based program for able second and third grade students at Granger School, taught by Phyllis Lewis, will be continued this Candace Jose, teacher of the middle school program, had her students research various cultures, hosted a meeting with foreign students, and worked with genealogy.

The middle school program for sixth grade students will be taught this 1985-86 school year by Evelyn

P.P.E.P. (Parents Promoting Educational Potential) continues to be a supportive group. They have supplied materials for classroom use, and have underwritten part of the cost of coaches training and materials for the Future Problem Solving Program.

Project S.E.E. continues to share materials, speakers and other resources with the regular classroom teacher, and with other students who share an interest in various areas.

We have also been involved with much consulting work with other communities as they endeavor to meet the needs of their gifted students

Many members of our School Department and the community have spent time as consultants and mentors to Project S.E.E. students. This sharing of information and of the joy of learning contributes much to young lives.

Title IX

Title IX is the portion of the Education Amendments of 1972 which prohibits sex discrimination in federallyassisted education programs. Specifically, Title IX states:

"No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance.

The governing regulations - effective July 21st, 1975 - cover all aspects of sex discrimination in schools with regard to admissions, treatment of students, and employment.

The Agawam school system does not discriminate on the basis of sex. Any inquiries you may have should be brought to the attention of: Smith T. Rovelli, Title 1X Coordinator, James Clark School, 65 Oxford Street, Agawam, MA 01001, Phone 789-1400, extension 411, or John G. Section 504

Section 504 of the U.S. Rehabilitation Act of 1973 is referred to as a "Act for Elimination of Discrimination on the Basis of Handicap in any School District Program or Activity Receiving Financial Assistance.

Section 504 requires that no otherwise qualified handicapped individual, shall, solely by reason of his handicap, be excluded from the participation in, denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity in the public schools.

Music Programs In The Agawam Schools

As a community, Agawam should be proud of its record of commitment to the arts through the music programs offered in the schools. The community can also share in the pride of its many student groups and individuals who have been awarded state, regional, and national honors over the years.

In addition to the required classroom music program by a music specialist through seventh grade, music is required in eighth grade, and either art or music in ninth grade. A large variety of performing groups and electives is also available to the students.

String instruction is available starting in fourth grade. The instrumental lessons on trombone, trumpet, clarinet, flute, and drum along with band and chorus are started in fifth grade.

Chorus and band, as well as string ensemble, meet twice weekly in both grades at the middle school with additional sectional lessons on a rotating basis for band members.

At the junior high school, students have a number of options with which to fulfill the music requirement: band, chorus, string ensemble, and guitar class are offered, as well as the classroom music course. Jazz Band and Show Choir are available to selected students on an extra-curricular basis.

At the high school, all music courses are elective and they include music theory, music history, electronic music, chorale, vocal ensemble, band, jazz band, jazz workshop and history, voice class, guitar class, and piano class.

The band curriculum during the fall includes the marching activities and members join with the color guard in evening practice sessions to form the AHS "Marching Mohawks." It is not necessary to take band as a course to be a member of the marching band and color guard.

However, jazz band membership will be selected from members of the concert band which is scheduled as a class

The solo/ensemble festivals held each year provide an opportunity for all music students to participate in this type of performance. Summer instrumental ensembles are also offered for students with the Summer Band for elementary and middle school students, and the free Community Band, open to capable musicians of any age.

Chapter 1

The School Department has applied for and received approval from the federal government for a project to increase the educational opportunities of students with certain basic skills deficiencies. The amount of the grant is $91,173.

This project, known as Chapter 1, provides extra reading and math instruction to those students who need the extra help in order to keep up with their classes. In order to qualify for funds, the individual schools, as well as the school district, must have a minimum percentage of educationally deprived students with educational needs.

A Parent Advisory Council (P.A.C.) meets monthly and is involved in all stages of planning, operating, and evaluating the program. Because of its close work with the schools, the council has linked the home and school, enhancing opportunities for these students.

More than 200 students in grades one to seven will receive extra assistance in reading and math this year because of this grant.

Chapter 2 Federal Block Grant

Under the provisions of the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act (ECIA), Chapter 2, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Education, has approved a federal grant for the public schools of Agawam. The amount approved for 1985-86 is $14,841.

The money will be spent in a variety of ways to support some on-going programs and to fund new ac-

Monies will be spent to bolster our remedial math in the eighth grade, implement a study skills program at the elementary level, and continue writing skills pro-

Chapter 622 What Is Chapter 622?

An important piece of legislation affecting the public schools was passed in August 1971. This law, Chapter 622 of the General Laws, Acts of 1971, is referred to as "An Act to Prohibit Discrimination in the Public Schools." The law reads as follows:

"No person shall be excluded from or discriminated against in admission to a public school of any town, or in obtaining the advantages, privileges and courses of study of such public school because of race, color, sex, religion, or national origin."

This law makes it clear that all aspects of public school education must be fully open and available to members of both sexes and of minority groups.

No school may exclude a child from any course activity, service, or resource available in that public school because of race, color, sex, religion, or national origin of such child.

On June 24th, 1975, the State Board of Education approved regulations for Chapter 622. These regulations address five areas of school policy: school admissions, admission to courses of study, guidance, content, and extra-curricular and athletic activities.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding Chapter 622 and how it affects your children, please do not hesitate to contact your local principal or the superintendent's office.

Copies of the law and the regulations can be obtained from the Bureau of Equal Educational Opportunity, 182 Tremont Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02111 Telephone (617) 727-5880.

Annual Junior Women's Club Event...

First-Time Bus Riders Learn Ropes

by Alexis Ferioli School Department Editor

A multitude of happy smiles were seen on the faces of children peering through the windows of school bus 18 as it traveled around the parking lot of the Agawam High School.

The mini-excursion was part of the 12th Annual School Bus Safety Program held Friday, August 23rd, at the high school parking lot and the Agawam Public

The program, which is open to all children entering kindergarten or riding a school bus for the first time, is an annual project of the Agawam Junior Women's Club, in conjunction with Agawam Police Safety Officer Sergeant Al Longhi. Safety program Chairwoman Barbara Connery reports that besides a ride in a bus driven by Sgt. Longhi, the well-attended program included a "Winnie-The-Pooh" safety filmstrip which was shown in the library's community room.

Assistant Superintendent Lends Support

Besides the popular "Safety Bug," Associate Superintendent of Schools Donald Charest was on hand to lend support to the program. Charest feels it is "exceptionally worthwhile and beneficial to those youngsters entering school for the first time.

The Safety Bug also aided Sgt. Longhi in acquainting youngsters with important safety rules, such as how to cross the road properly and how to board and exit the school bus.

Sgt. Longhi reports that the school bus orientation program has proven beneficial in promoting the town's safety record. He notes that the mini-bus ride helps dispel any fears some youngsters might have on the first day of school.

As a memento of the program, the youngsters received safety bumper stickers from both Sgt. Longhi and the Safety Bug at the conclusion of their ride.

"I hope parents will reinforce the safety rules the children learned today at home. Proper school bus conduct is a valuable lesson which should be taught at an early age," he declares.

Approximately 150 youngsters attended the twosession program and freely voiced their opinions of what they enjoyed and learned during the early morn-

Six year-old Shannon Netopski and her five year-old brother, Paul, of Amherst Avenue, agreed that riding the school bus was the best part of the program. The youngsters also remembered "not to scream and jump up and down on the bus while riding to school." Shannon will be entering first grade at James Clark School and her brother will enter kindergarten.

Another Amherst Avenue resident, five year-old Brenna Quinn, states that "sitting still in her seat and not throwing things out the windows of the bus" was the most important lesson she learned.

Neighbor Brian Adams declared that he "liked the Safety Bug best."

The five year-old is sure he will like kindergarten at Clark School

Five year-old Jennifer Zerra of White Fox Road, Feeding Hills, will soon be entering kindergarten at Granger School. Positive that she will like school and her teacher, the precocious youngster remembered

"not to walk in the aisle while the bus is moving."

Highlights Of The Program "Meeting Sgt. Longhi and the Safety Bug" was the highlight of the program for five year-old Jeffrey Krapf, who also resides on White Fox Road. Having already purchased new clothes and school supplies, Jeffrey is certain that he will enjoy kindergarten at Granger

School. Four-and-a-half year-old Stefanie Karam of Robin Ridge Drive, Feeding Hills, is anxious to attend kindergarten at Robinson Park School. The diminutive lass, who enjoyed "riding the bus best," will be bringing her new "Cabbage Patch Kids" pencils to school on opening day. "Always look both ways before crossing the street" was the most important lesson remembered by five year-old Raena Major of Hope Farms Road, Feeding Hills. Riding the bus with the Safety Bug was also lots of fun for the youngster who will attend kindergarten at Granger School.

A purple backpack will be among the new items worn to school the first dociate vive year-old Shaina Shusterman of North Street Extension, Feeding Hills. The Robinson Park School kindergarten student says the important rule to remember is "stay in your seat and be nice to the bus driver."

That Familiar Face At The Middle School...

by Alexis Ferioli School Department Editor

"There has always been too much to do to get bored," states James Girard of his 27-year custodial career at the Agawam Middle School.

Senior custodian of the school maintenance department, Jim will once again be on hand to welcome back sixth and seventh graders when school bells ring out, Wednesday, September 4th.

Originally from Springfield, Jim was employed as a custodian at the H. L. Handy Company of Springfield after serving in the United States Air Force during World War II

Eventually laid-off by that firm, Jim applied for the available maintenance position at the middle school where he has remained throughout his career.

Worked Under Five Superintendents

Hired in 1958 by former Superintendent of Schools James Clark when the building served as a junior high, the amicable custodian has worked under five superintendents and four principals, including Raymond Harris, Charles Kistner, Charles Corcoran, and Acting Principal Ralph Zavarella.

Jim relates that he has always enjoyed working with the school's administrators and staff members, and has felt lucky to remain in one building.

I've never regretted my decision to leave industry and work for the school maintenance department. My bosses have been great. I've enjoyed working with the staff," he remarks.

Jim notes that he has always maintained a good relationship with the students and they, in return, have been respectful. However, he believes that of all the students at the school, the current grouping of sixth and seventh graders is the most unsettled.

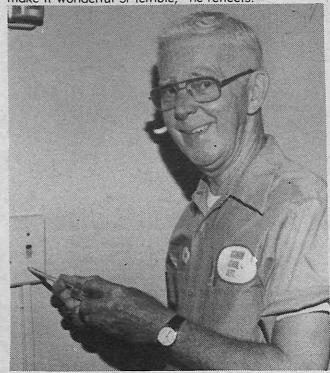

The students are basically good kids. However, I feel that this grouping is not as naturally suited as seventh and eighth graders," he comments.

Supervising a staff of three, Jim says his duties while school is in session include removing graffiti from walls, minor repairing, washing windows and floors, cleaning carpeting, removing trash, and helping the school cafeteria staff. During the summer months, he keeps busy repairing, painting, and cleaning the

According to Jim, the middle school is one of the most energy efficient buildings for heat and electricity in the school system. Built in 1921, he reports that the two-story structure is in excellent condition. However, he would like to see new windows installed and carpeting laid in the hallways as a noise deterrent.

Jim states that, as true with most professions, there have been a few problems, but nothing which has been too bad. He says that although there have been no high or low points in his career, he has enjoyed working with school staff members most.

"A job is what you make of it. Your attitude can make it wonderful or terrible," he reflects.

CUSTODIAN JAMES GIRARD Retirement A Possibility

The custodian relates that his future plans are still undecided, but retirement in a year's time is a possibili-

When not busy working at the middle school, Jim says that his hobbies include furniture refinishing, carpentry, and reading. An active member of the Knights of Columbus, he also enjoys spending time with his grandchildren, Richie-17, Michael-16, David-14, and Michelle-11.

A 41-year resident of Agawam, Jim resides on Cooper Street with his wife, Evelyn. He is the father of two married sons, Phillip and Richard, both of Gran-

New Computer Course Aimed At 9th Grade

by Alexis Ferioli School Department Editor

Ninth grade students at the Agawam Junior High School will discover that a new mandatory course has been added to their curriculum when classes resume for the 1985-86 school year, Wednesday, September

The 375 students will be required to take a half year introductory computer course in conjunction with a half year developmental reading program.

School Principal Thomas O'Keefe says the new course is the first formal computer program to which students will be exposed prior to entering the senior

First Step In Establishing Computer Program
He explains that although students are offered several elective computer courses at the senior high, most are unsure what to choose since they lack basic computer knowledge.

Associate Superintendent of Schools Donald Charest tells us that the new mandatory course is the first step in establishing computer programs throughout the

When computers became vogue, we naturally established them at the senior high level. Although some elementary and middle school students have used them in individual classes, a formal introductory program has never been instituted. We hope to eventually establish a computer program which can be instituted at the elementary level and expanded upon at the various secondary levels," he remarks.

Charest states that the new introductory computer course will be reviewed at the end of the school year. If deemed worthwhile, another basic course may be instituted at the middle school level in the near future.

Although we're working from the top down, we believe the sooner students are exposed to computers, the better," he comments.

O'Keefe relates that the twice weekly computer course will be instructed by Alan Mangiaratti, a former computer teacher from St. Mary's High School in

He states that since the new computer course is mandatory, some students, especially those in the language program, will have to forfeit their study period. This action will result in tighter schedules for those students. SEE COMPUTERS - Page 46...

Agawam Teens Teach 19th Century Values At Storrowton Village

by Laura Dugan Advertiser News Feature Writer

Storrowton, an authentic, early American Village on the grounds of the Big E in West Springfield, is an interesting and peaceful place to visit on a hot, summer day.

The green lawns, the neat, well-kept buildings, and brick walks are inviting. But there are certain days in summer where, dressed in slacks and colorful blouses and bareheaded - one may feel a bit "out of touch" walking among groups of boys and girls each dressed in colonial costume, with ruffled caps for the girls and tri-cornered hats for the boys.

These children, about 60 of them from Grades two to six, are attending the Colonial Day Camp held in early August for two one-week sessions at Storrowton Village. All of the Village's buildings and lawns are used by the campers, and the restored horse sheds are their "homes" for the week. Divided into four groups of "Farmers," "Cobblers," "Merchants," and "Tailors," their homes are decorated accordingly.

Storrowton's Day Camp offers a unique opportunity for the children to learn what it was like to be a child back in the late 1700's and early 1800's. Their colonial costumes are provided and made by Storrowton volunteers.

The entire camp program is a hands-on, living ex-

Activities include: Spinning - taught by Counselor Kimberly Bressem of Feeding Hills. Starting with the raw fleece which is donated, the children learn to wash, card and spin it into yarn; Fireplace Cooking the campers usually cook a meal using one of the Village fireplaces; Stencilling and Printing - as it was done back in Colonial America; and Weaving Techniques and Candle Dipping - hand-dipped candles take a lot of time. The children have to "walk the candles" between dips to cool them. Repeat campers treasure their growing collections of hand-dipped candles.

Also, Blacksmithing - taught by Village Curator Vernon Phelps of Springfield in the Village Blacksmith Shop; School Classes - taught by Counselor Jodi Pirnie of Feeding Hills. Here, children learn to use slates and write with quill pens, etc., in Storrowton's one-room

Gay Langlois Named Enfield's Top Teacher

by Laura Dugan Advertiser News Feature Writer

"I never intended to be a teacher," was the surprising statement from Gay Langlois, Agawam High School Class of 1958, and daughter of George and Esther Reynolds of River Road, well-known local Recently named "Teacher of the Year" from among neighboring Enfield's 500 teachers, the attractive, white-haired young woman with blue eyes and a ready smile, is now in the running for the "Connecticut Teacher of the Year" to be announced November 1st.

"I thought I would like to be a doctor," Gay said, referring to her graduation from Smith College, cum laude, in 1962 as a psychology major. But her deep love for children, combined with the love of English and writing, inspired by her eighth and nne grade English teacher, Mrs. Moggio, and further fostered by teacher Eleanor Mills in high school, began to assert

In 1963, she received her master of education degree from Harvard and her career was launched as a second grade teacher in Suffield. It is a career that has taken her to far places before coming, almost full circle, to the Enfield school system.

Navy Wife In Honolulu In 1964 she and Paul Langlois, Jr., graduate of Agawam High School class of 1957, were married, and as a navy wife living in Hawaii, she became third grade teacher at Iolani School in Honolulu. Iolani is a private Episcopal boys' school with a predominantly Japanese student body. It was at Iolani that she first initiated her ideas for parent involvement. Her third grade "kahili contest" caused so much excitement it spread through the whole school and became a full-fledged festival celebrating the "old" Hawaii. It has since become an annual school event. Parent involvement continues to be a very important goal in Gay's teaching agenda and a large factor in her success

From Hawaii, the Langlois moved to Newport, Rhode Island, where she taught second grade at St. Mary's School, and also taught a course in psychology at the Junior College there.

Following the years in Newport, they returned to Connecticut and Gay has since been a teacher in the Enfield schools; 2½ years as a substitute teacher in the grammar school and 2½ years as a sixth grade teacher. In 1976 she became an English teacher at John F. Kennedy Junior High ("JFK")

A "With It, Up-To-Date" Teacher Gay is constantly studying and developing new materials for classroom use and providing ways of recognition for student excellence. One of her goals is to make available to all students, every opportunity to develop their potential To help boost pupil's self-confidence, she invites parents into her classroom and promotes ways for them to work with their children at home. "Parents get a positive feeling about education when they are participants in the process," Gay said.

She is also involved in the field of education at state, regional, and national levels. She was one of 40 teachers to receive a scholarship from the National Endowment for the Humanities, allowing her to attend its sponsored Institute in the Teaching of Writing at the University of Massachusetts in the summer of 1980.

This also involved an original research project during the following school year using her own classroom as the laboratory. She hopes to have this study publish-

She also attended an Institute for Teaching and Learning: Thinking and Writing, sponsored by the Connecticut State Department of Education at Storrs.

In 1979, Gay started The Patriot, JFK's literary-art

Gay's efforts in starting the magazine have not only made writing a desirable skill at JFK, but The Patriot has won highest honors for junior high magazines from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association for the past four years! As a result of her efforts, Gay is a judge for the Columbia Scholastic Press Association this year.

A strong supporter of a liberal arts education, Gay also considers the educational advantages offered by the military services an excellent way for a student to get that college degree.

As an example, their oldest son, Douglas, a 1985 graduate of Enfield's Fermi High, will enter Renssalear Polytechnic Institute in September as a physics major under a U.S. Navy program.

O'Keefe notes that it will be interesting to see how many more students elect to take computer courses at the senior high next year, after completing the new introductory program.

"I believe exposure to computers at this grade level can only be beneficial to students. Until now, the majority of students have only played games on computers, which is useless in courses taught at the senior high," he states.

The Langlois' other son, James, is a senior at Fermi this year. Completing the family, Gay's husband, Paul, is a systems manager tor Travelers Life Insurance Company in Hartford. Gay explained that she sort of thinks of herself as being from "Enfield-Agawam." Her father was born in Enfield and attended the Shaker School there while his father was a foreman at Shaker Farms.

Her mother was born in Agawam, the daughter of Sumner and Milly Schwartz, who owned the former Shady Side Farm on River Road. Gay grew up on River Road in the lovely old farmhouse where her parents

She fondly remembers fishing for eels from the river bank and then having to prepare and cook them herself because her mother refused to have anything to do

Although, as Gay "never intended to be a teacher," she has a strong family background in the teaching

"My mother was a nursery school teacher for more than 25 years, and my father was a teacher all his life. He taught in Suffield, at Springfield Technical High School and, later, at Agawam High." Her brother, Jeffrey, is a science teacher, also at JFK Junior High. And now, Gay herself is a teacher with 20 years of experience.

She looks back on her years at Agawam High with affection and a deep respect for the dedicated and car-ing teachers she knew there. "Fred Dacey was principal; he took time to personally encourage the students," she said.

Gay also noted that James Bruno, present superintendent of schools in Agawam, and Dr. Dwight Sangrey, now dean of the Engineering School at R.P.I., were classmates of hers. Teachers particularly remembered (besides Eleanor Miller previously mentioned) include Eleanor Smith, Mrs. Mitsy Mackler, the late David Theodorowitz, Marjory Ward, and Emily McCormick

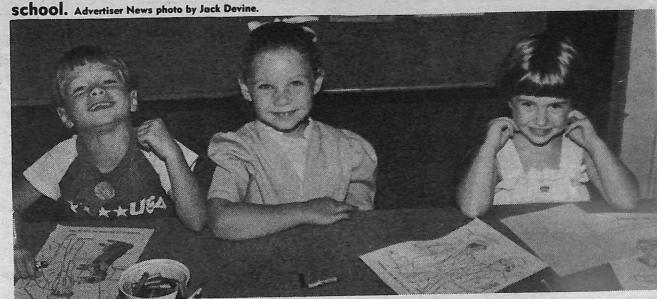

Although Gay did not study under all of them, she found them always encouraging and considered them her friends. It was a interesting to note - in this presentday mobile world, that some of Gay's teachers also taught her parents.

Dana Cutter, prepares another ANDY YEE, owner and operator of the Hu Ke Lau Restaurant in Chicopee, is usually on hand to welcome diners to his popular establishment which also offers exotic entertainment in a supper Club. Advertiser News photo by Jack Devine.

Hu Ke Lau Offers Unique Blend Of Food, Exotic Entertainment

Recently, our Entertainment Editor, Phil Benoit, reviewed one of the area's most popular restaurants and supper clubs, the Hu Ke Lau in Chicopee. Paul Rogers, public relations director and entertainment director, was host to Phil and his charming young com-

Unfortunately, photographer Jack Devine was on another assignment and was unable to photograph the stars with a glimpse of the inner workings of this fine supper club and restaurant. To quote Phil and many other reviewers, "It was an evening of entertainment that was not only enthralling, but amazing to find such super talent in our own back yard."

Owner Andy Yee, as well as the other members of the Yee family; brothers, Addison and Franklin; sister Anita; and with John & Linda Yee overseeing to every whim of the patron.

It is interesting to note that the success of the Hu Ke Lau could be pinpointed to family teamwork

Rogers has been the Public Relations director and advertising director of the Hu Ke Lau for over 19 years and has hosted the Miss World contestants, as well as many of the musical greats, including such names as the "Al Alberts & His Original Four Aces," "Mills Brothers," "Al Martino," "Mary Wilson and the Supremes," "Herb Reed of the Original Platters," plus many, many more. One star that continues to pack them in at the supper club is the remarkable Sam Vine, hypnotist and humorist.

Sam continues to appear at the Hu Ke Lau three or four times a year. Devine not only had the pleasure of shooting the stars, but discovered another star in the dining room, chef Dana Cutter. The supper club was packed, and leading into the dining room were hordes of people waiting in line to enjoy the epicurean delights prepared and served by Cutter, a master chef of the Hu Ke Lau who appears Thursday and Sunday. It is unusual to find in any restaurant a combination of talent that blends and enhances a menu. It takes talent and, believe it or not, education and experience to create a menu that can satisfy the most discriminating taste at a price anyone can afford. Cutter has been educated at the University of Massachusetts, attended Harvard Management School, has taught the culinary arts to hundreds of people, was a former master chef at the Yankee Pedlar Inn, and owns his own catering business.

Cutter met Johnny Yee at a bachelor party. This led to his long run engagement at the Hu Ke Lau. Hosting and preparing food for over 1,000 quests at the bachelor dinner for Andy Yee, John Yee was so impressed that he hired Cutter on the spot to revamp his Polynesian Menu to feature lobsters, shrimp, steaks, and prime ribs of beef.

AHS Marching Mohawks Seen By Thousands

During the past year, Agawam High School's "Marching Mohawks" performed for over one-half million people. The estimated total viewers involved 625,000 people at 25 performances that took place mostly Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. This total does not count the television coverage from several of the events, including the Quincy Christmas Parade with an estimated 300,000 people along a four-mile route, and the Holyoke St. Patrick's Parade, in which the "Mohawks" were given a three minute performance at the reviewing stand for television coverage.

Other events with large audiences included the Columbus Day Parade in Springfield with over 50,000 viewers; the parade at the Eastern States Exposition on Massachusetts Day; and the 9,000 in attendance at the opening University of Massachusetts football game. Here, the Marching Mohawks were featured in both pre-game and half-time performances.

The school's special field contests attended in Trumbull, Billerica, and Malden also drew audiences of several thousand, as well as an appearance at the NCAA Field Hockey Championships at Springfield

The extensive crowds at these events make the marching band the most visible of many school programs and they are certainly a factor in endeavoring to present the best appearing group possible.

This will certainly be the case this year as new uniforms and equipment have been arriving all summer. It is hoped that everything will be in place for the opening performance of the group in a few weeks.

The marching band and color guard draw most of their membership from the bands in middle and junior high schools, along with dance and baton classes.

However, there are almost always openings for a few students who have not had previous band experience and this is true this year.

There are some instruments available, and the band's "Honor Guard" (the American Flag section) should have regular personnel, rather than taking members from the regular flag section that works on extensive routines.

Year Of The Dragon: An Ode To Bad Filmmaking

Although it has been seen by very few moviegoers, a 1980 Western titled Heaven's Gate has become one of Hollywood's most unforgettable pictures. Not only did it waste approximately 44 million dollars and the talents of an impressive cast, but this piece of trash also ended up as one of the all-time box-office disasters and an embarrassing eyesore in the history of the American film industry.

This summer, Michael Cimino, the director of Heaven's Gate and the man who's responsible for its flaws, presents us with his newest endeavor, Year of the Dragon. And, judging from the wretchedly low quality of his latest movie, it appears that Cimino has not learned anything from the mistakes he made on Heaven's Gate.

Based on Robert Daley's novel of the same title, Year of the Dragon deals with present-day gangland violence in the Chinatown section of New York City.

A group of Oriental mobsters, led by a young businessman named Joey Tai (John Lone), are using youth gangs to bump off anyone who stands in their way of gaining complete control of the drug traffic and other underworld activities in this area of the city.

To combat the wave of mob-related slayings, the New York Police Department assigns Captain Stanley White (Mickey Rourke) to the Chinatown precinct. A dedicated and persistent individual, White seems to be the kind of law enforcer who'd be perfect for handling Chinatown's current problem.

But, this man also happens to be a Vietnam veteran with a prejudice against Orientals, and his bigoted personality - combined with his stubbornness - turns him into a reckless maverick who throws all caution to the wind in his attempts to thwart the plans of Joey Tai and his fellow Chinese gangsters.

Crime Drama With Interesting Premise

Resembling both The French Connection and the Godfather films, Year of the Dragon is a crime drama which has an interesting premise and starts out as a straightforward yet powerful story.

However, through Cimino's unforgivably inept direction, the picture ends up being a total mess which suffers from some of the problems which plagued Heaven's Gate: incoherent and sometimes confusing plot development; an inclusion of distracting story and character details; and movements of unintentional humor which weaken the movie's dramatic power.

Fortunately, Year of the Dragon is a tad better than Heaven's Gate since it has a quicker pace and finer cinematography. But, like Cimino's earlier fiasco, the film serves as a good example of how NOT to make a movie. (This fact is unfortunate when you consider that Cimino has also given us The Deer Hunter, the Best Picture of 1978).

Going back to a couple of the flaws which I mentioned two paragraphs ago, Cimino occassionally has trouble in keeping our attention focused on the story because Year of the Dragon contains some distracting and incongruous elements which stand out like sore thumbs. For instance, Captain Stanley White employs two nuns to monitor Joey Tai's conferences with his associates via a bug hidden in his office.

Through the script's failure to explain why nuns would be involved in a covert police operation, we're left scratching our heads and wondering why these characters are part of the plot to begin with. Are the two women undercover police officers disguised as nuns? If so, they why are they disguised as such?

Or, if the women are actually nuns, then what order do they belong to - Our Lady of Watergate?

As for the moments of unintentional humor in Year of the Dragon, the best example of this can be found in a scene when a group of Chinese gangsters have a meeting with members of the Italian Mafia. During their discussion, an elderly mafioso produces much laughter among moviegoers in the audience.

Because he has a throat ailment, this character can talk only by placing a device resembling an electric razor under his chin. Not only does this gesture give you the impression that the man is shaving, but the resulting speech sounds like that of a robot in a B sci-fi

In itself, this kind of handicap is not something to laugh at. Yet, within the context of the film, the man's robot-like voice sounds totally out of place - and, therefore, quite amusing, is a scene dealing with the grimly serious mobsters of the underworld

Another major problem with Year of the Dragon is the nature of Captain Stanley White. This character has the rough-edged gutsiness of Clint Eastwood's Dirty Harry and Popeye Doyle, the role which Gene Hackman portrayed in The French Connection and its sequel. Unfortunately, White is sometimes less likable than the gangsters he's in conflict with.

Belief That The End Justifies The Means

He is an unthinking brute who treats his wife and fellow policemen with no respect. Believing that the ends always justify the means, White will do anything he can to fight crime, regardless of the fact that this sometimes unnecessarily endangers the lives of the people around him as well as his own life.

While the script is primarily responsible for the distasteful qualities of this character, Rourke's (The Pope of Greenwich Village) performance as White makes things even worse.

An expert at playing streetwise, earthy men, the actor exudes a coarse persona that accentuates White's already despicable personality, especially in a farfetched relationship that he has with a young female newscaster (a totally unbelievable character who's portrayed as best as possible by an Oriental model named Ariane)

In the part of Joey Tai, Lone (Iceman) manages to come off considerably better. Though his acting can't save the picture, he conveys a smooth yet undeniably menacing charisma which makes his character's scenes the most fascinating ones in the story.

Year of the Dragon is being criticized by a number of Oriental people in this country who feel that the film is perpetuating negative stereotypes about Chinese culture within American society.

This complaint is justified because most of the plot's Chinese characters are depicted in a one-dimensional manner as either criminals or menial laborers; the picture also does nothing to endear these characters to us.

But, in addition, I believe that Year of the Dragon is just as insulting to anyone who goes to the movies to be entertained, educated, and/or to see professionalquality filmmaking. Rating: 0 STARS (On a scale of 0-4 stars)

*THE PHILM GUIDE FOR PARENTS: Year of the Dragon is rated R for graphic violence and an explicit nude scene

Let's Talk Travel

by Julie Mercadante Liberty Travel

All About Vacation Packages

For value and convenience, it's hard to beat a good package deal. Thanks to a strong U.S. dollar and the deregulation of airlines, there are many vacation bargains available, each wrapped in an enticing package.

However, because travel terminology can be confusing, you must understand the lingo before you can analyze the deal. Following are common phrases that appear in travel brochures and advertisements:

TOUR GROUP: This is a group of travellers who have all purchased the same packaged trip arrangements but may, or may not, spend any time

DIRECT FLIGHT: Also known as a through flight, this makes one or more stops en route and, occasionally, changes plans for equipment reasons.

NONSTOP FLIGHTS: This is a trip that proceeds from departure point to destination with no scheduled stops.

HOTEL CLASSIFICATIONS: Ratings differ around the world, but it's wise to remember that standards abroad may vary from those in the United States.

In Europe, for instance, an economy hotel's rooms may not have private baths. A first-class hostelery will most likely have private baths and such services as dining rooms, room service, and bellhops. A hotel with the highest level of accommodations, service and decor is called deluxe.

Some government tourist agencies rate hotels with stars. Five stars is usually the highest, but again, classifications may not reflect American standards.

classifications may not reflect American standards. DOUBLE OCCUPANCY: In tour parlance, this means the rate is what will be charged each of two persons sharing that room.

SINGLE SUPPLEMENT: This is an extra charge added to the double-occupancy rate for those staying in a room alone.

MEAL PLANS: Opt for Full American Plan (FAP or AP), and your room rate will include three full meals a day. Those on the Modified American Plan (MAP) receive two meals, generally breakfast and dinner. No meals (except, sometimes, continental breakfast) are provided under the European Plan (EP).

TRANSFERS: These refer to the cost of getting you and your baggage from airport to hotel, either by private chartered van or mass transit.

In addition to the vacations offered at Liberty Travel, our professional travel agents can customize a package to suit your needs and budget — and there's never a charge for our services!

JOTS FROM JULIE: Jean & Angelo Zanotti, and Enis & Fran Bouley of Feeding Hills recently returned from a hectic, but fun trip to the West Coast. They did it all-cable cars, Alcatraz, Lombard Street, Fisherman's Wharf, Disneyland, Universal Studios, and all with a personal escort. The trip home included a stop in Denver to see Ronnie & Belinda Zanotti, Jean & Angelo's son and daughter-in-law, respectively. Glad you had a good time, folks.

New England School Suppy, Inc., Called "Agawam's Best Kept Secret" By Owners

by Alexis Ferioli School Department Editor

One of the three largest school supply distributors in the nation, New England School Supply, is Agawam's best kept secret."

Originally known as the E.B. Babb Company, New England School Supply was purchased by Milton Bradley Company in 1954 and operated as one of its divisions until 1974.

The local company was then purchased by another school supply distributor, Chaselle Inc., of Columbia, Maryland, in 1984. The parent firm is directed by president Robert J. Chaisson, a former Milton Bradley and New England School Supply employee, and chairman of the board Charles Ellerin.

Employing a work force of 170, New England School Supply moved to Agawam in November 1984. Located at 609 Silver Street in the former Simon Container Company building, the company stocks approximately 28,000 items in its large warehouse.

Utilizing a traveling sales force of 18, New England School Supply's prime marketing area stretches north from Virginia to Canada as well as across the nation.

Need For More Space Vice president of operations Warren Luthgren points out that the firm's decision to move to Agawam was based on a need for more space.

Presently housed in a 100,000 square foot building, the company ships 150,000 pounds of freight each

He notes that another benefit the company's location provides is close proximity to the new Agawam Regional Industrial Park and Route 57.

New England School Supply's newest endeavor is the opening of a teacher/parent store last April. Senior Vice President and General Manager Leslie Frankel says the company has always desired to open a retail store, especially since a similar one operated by Chaselle in Maryland has been so successful.

Open to the public as well as teachers, the teacher/parent store is unique in the fact that it stocks 4 28,000 items since it has direct access to the company's warehouse.

STANDING ON THE STEPS OF

Some of these items include pre-school and educational games, student and school supplies, office supplies and products, artist and craft materials, teaching aids, micro-computer software, and office and school furniture and equipment.

Frankel notes that due to stocking large volumes of items, store prices are very competitive and frequently below those of discount stores.

Moreover, he states that area businesses are assured of having all their needs met at prices below those of office supply stores.

"Generally, stores are only able to stock a few cases of most items due to limited space. Since we are able to stock thousands of cases, we can keep costs down and pass the savings on to the customers," Frankel remarks.

Under the direction of store manager Nancy Cavanaugh, a staff of three aids customers in their selections Monday to Friday, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Open year round, the teacher/parent store is the perfect place to shop for Christmas gifts as well as back-to-school needs.

In Midst Of Busiest Season

Supplying the Agawam School System for 31 years as well as every other school system in New England, the local distributor is currently in the midst of its busiest season.

National Sales Manager David Perkins states that the firm is very happy in its new location and is considering long-range plans for expansion. The major benefit our company offers schools and businesses which our competitors cannot is the fulfilling of indepth needs in large quantities. We're very optimistic about the future and pleased with our new home in Agawam," he comments.

DJ's Sweeps Past Showcase In A; Bogey's Drops KC In Div. B-Amer.

Six-Run Sixth Frame Turns Series' Tide

by Judith Kelliher Advertiser News Sports Editor

There was certainly no doubt that Dick Joseph's would repeat as Division A champions of the Agawam Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League - except of course in the minds of the Showcase International players. This group put up a respectable fight but eventually fell in three straight games in their best of five games series to DJ's, considered the region's premiere team.

Due to DJ's superior regular season (24-5), they were awarded the grand championship by the Agawam Park & Recreation Department.

Showcase, although the losers in the Division A finals, was called the Division A playoff champion. DJ'swas on the sidelines when four teams squared-off in the opening of the playoffs. The survivor received the right to meet DJ's and Showcase came out on top in the preliminary fight.

Showcase had upset second seeded Village Lounge, two games to one in their best of three game series in the semi-finals

DJ's used a 9-7, come-from-behind victory in game one before catching fire offensively in games two and three. They won 14-7 on Thursday, August 22nd, and came away with the championship on Friday, August GAME ONE: A five-run sixth inning propelled DJ's to this narrow victory. As it turned out, that offensive spark proved the turning point in the series as Showcase never recovered from the salvo.

In that sixth inning, a double by Mike Jiles and singles by Joe Landry, Mike Carter, and Dave Rice fuel-

Helping Showcase to a 7-4 lead going into the sixth were singles by Dave Trehey, Tony Odierna, and Bill Bryant for two runs in the second.

They added three in the third with offensive assistance from Mike Badger (triple), and safeties by Bob Black, Ron Zundell, and a sacrifice by Ollari. Their runs in the top of the fifth came from the bats of Black, Zundell (triple), and Ollari.

GAME TWO: Costly errors early on by Showcase took them right out of the game. Six-run bursts in each of the second and fourth frames by DJ's put Showcase out of their misery early.

In the six-run fourth, Jiles' fielder's choice, Landry's sacrifice fly, Scott Aye's single, and Rice's two-run basehit accounted for their runs.

Too Much Defense Carries Bogey's To Title

by Judith Kelliher Advertiser News Sports Editor

After dropping their first game, 4-2, second-seed Bogey's recorded three straight victories over third seeded Knights of Columbus enroute to capturing the Division B-American championships of the Agawam Men's Slo-Pitch Softball League last week

The clincher came during doubleheader action on Tuesday, August 27th at Shea's Field, where Bogey's swept the two games, 5-3 and 6-4.

KC advanced to the finals with an upset series over top-seeded Down East Variety.

Bogey's barely surivived the semifinal round as they needed a desperation, five-run seventh inning rally to clinch the third and deciding game against fifth seeded Buccaneer Lounge, Bogey's finished the regular season with a 22-7-1 record and KC ended at 17-11-2.

KC surprised Bogey's with the series opening victory, but it was a total reversal in game two as Bogey's smashed KC, 18-2.

GAME 3: This was another come-from-behind playoff effort by Bogey's as they rallied from a 3-0 deficit. In fact, it was Mark Consolini's infield sacrifice that proved the game-winner in the bottom of the fifth.

Prior to that, it was KC that held all the cards. They opened game scoring with a Mike Dubois RBI single in

The score remained 1-0 until the top of the fourth as both teams' defense tightened up. Knights plated two more runs with a Jeff Roberts sacrifice fly to right centerfield and an RBI single by Carl Roberts.

Six Bogey's hitters came to the plate in the bottom of the fourth to even the game at 3-3. Consecutive singles by Al Carmel, Mike Zaborowski and Glenn Consolini set-up a sacrifice fly by Ken Gunn.

Mike Flanders' fielder's choice turned into a costly error by KC to notch another run. The tying run came in on Bob Cardwell's clutch RBI single to leftfield.

KC failed to score the remainder of the game. Bogey's kept scoring on Mark Consolini's sacrifice fly and an error on Carmel's hit.

KC had the bases loaded with two outs in the top of the seventh, but Bogey's leftfielder Flander made a spectacular, over-the-shoulder running catch for the

Defensively for Bogey's, third baseman Glenn Consolini and his brother, Scott, at shortstop, excelled in GAME FOUR: This time around, Bogey's grabbed the lead and maintained it all the way as KC gave a too little, too late effort.

Bogey's bats got cracking in the top of the first. Glenn Consolini provided a timely hit to centerfield with the bases full to open the scoring. Gunn unloaded a hard shot to shortstop which was bobbled to notch

They had an opportunity to really clean-up with the bases loaded and two outs, but a line drive to short

Boaev's added two more markers in the top of the second when Paul Lomelino's single was followed by a well-placed triple to right centerfield by Scott Con-

Knights didn't score until the bottom of the third when John Lunds' hit went off the pitcher's glove to score Carl Roberts, who was on second. Jeff Roberts came through with a clutch hit to rightfield in the bottom of the fourth to bring KC, 4-2.

Neither team scored in the fifth, but Bogey's tapped KC for two runs thanks to two errors off Rob Schweinn's hit to second base.

KC made a stab at a comeback in the bottom of the sixth when Jeff Roberts connected again for an RBI. Ted Witaszek followed with a run-scoring safety, but . KC fell short after that.

Key defensive plays, which carried Bogey's to victory throughout the tournament, were evident during KC's last at-bats. Right centerfielder Rob Schweinn had two outstanding put-outs, while shortstop Scott Consolini dove to his left to snare a line drive headed-up the mid-

Kathy McCarthy Attends Nationals

by Judith Kelliher Advertiser News Sports Editor

An injured ankle wasn't about to prevent Agawam resident Kathy McCarthy from competing at the USA/AAU Junior Olympic National Gymnastic Team Championships held recently at the University of Iowa Fifteen year-old Kathy, competing for the Pioneer Gymnastics School of East Longmeadow, joined four other girls on the team. Her mother, Beverly, along with the other girls' parents, spent six days in lowa for the championships.

Kathy had injured her ankle during practice, but was determined to compete

"My coach (Leo Ledger) was going to pull me from the meet, but he knew how much I wanted to compete," said Kathy, who finished sixth in the floor exercise and placed in the top 12 in the all-around

"I was going to scratch her from the meet, but we had a trainer look at her ankle. She got the okay to compete, said Ledger, owner of the Pioneer Gymnastics School and a resident of Feeding Hills.

The injury did curtail her routines and she had to play it safe. I was pleased with where she finished, considering her injury," Ledger told us.

Ledger added that if Kathy was performing at peak efficiency, she would have finished among the top two in the all-around.

Kathy is no stranger to gymnastics. She received her first introduction to the pre-gymnastics stages at age four. She began seriously with gymnastics classes when she was seven.

"I liked everything about gymnastics right from the start. Of the four events, I like vaulting and bars the best," she said.

Prior to competing at Pioneer, Kathy was a member of the New England Gymnastics School for about seven years. She joined Pioneer in September 1984. She was a two-year member of the Agawam High School gymnastic team, but will not be competing for the Brownies this year.

Kathy considers herself a hardworking and dedicated gymnast. She is involved in a rigorous schedule which takes up most of her free time.

During the summer, she spends five days a week, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., working out. Once school begins, she will still practice five days a week, from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m.

"It doesn't bother me to work out so much. I know I'm doing it because I have goals to accomplish. Besides, I get to go out on weekends and spend time with my friends," she noted.

Kathy's goal this year is to make the USGF Nationals (U.S. Gymnastics Federation), an individual competition. She would be facing much stiffer competition here than in AAU meets.

Kathy is a "Class I" gymnast, which is considered one step below an "Elite" gymnast. World-class gymnasts, such as Olympic Gold Medalist Mary Lou Ret ton, are considered "Elites."

'Kathy is an all-around strong performer. She doesn't specialize in any one event. She is really good in all four events," praised Ledger.

"I'm thinking of Kathy moving up to the "Elite" class, which means she has proven herself as a national competitor.

Kathy hopes all this hard work and sacrifice pays big dividends two years down the road when she enters

"I hope to be good enough to get a college scholarship at a school like Penn State or the University of lowa. That's my motivation for all the practice I do,"

On September 22nd, at Northeastern University in Boston, Kathy will be competing in the "Women of Excellence" Meet. It is open to all gymnasts in the coun-

Showcase added a couple of runs, but they were already too deep in the hole. Highlighting their offense were contributions from Zundell, Black, Tom Albano, Ollari, Greg Forsman, Trehey, and Odierna.

GAME THREE: This was almost a carbon copy of game two. DJ's offense was still in high gear.

The key to DJ's triumph was the one-two defensive punch of Jiles (SS) and Carter (2B), who combined to turn two bases loaded double plays in the third and sixth innings.

DJ's scattered their offense as Dick Stepanian (3-3), John Provost (2-3, two RBI's), and Carter (2-3,/RBI) provided key hits.

Summer Hoop Proves AHS Has A Better Future

by Judith Kelliher Advertiser News Sports Editor

It's been a long time, over three years in fact, since the Agawam High School boys' basketball program has been on the winning end of anything. Their threeyear, 55-game losing streak, the longest in the state and including an 0-40 record over the past two seasons, continues to be a sensitive, open wound in the high school's athletic scheme.

This apparent road to more ruin seems to have been curved as a successful summer basketball team, featuring the majority of the returning AHS varsity players, lends promise for productivity when the 1985-86 season gets underway in December.

1985-86 season gets underway in December.
Under the direction of coach Bob Hersey and assistant Carl Poole, the Agawam 16-17 year-old hoop team finished first with a 9-1 record in the competitive Westfield Summer League, which includes players from Cathedral, West Springfield, East Longmeadow, and Southwick high schools.

Agawam's only loss came during the regular season - a one-point setback to Westfield, the league's runner-up.

"I believe the success of the Agawam team will change the outlook of Agawam basketball," predicted Hersey, a longtime coach in the Agawam Athletic Association. "The kids now have the winning attitude they've been lacking in the past few years.

"It was a total team effort out there. Once they won their first game, they realized they were going to be competitive," added Hersey.
Except for the Westfield loss, Agawam rolled

Except for the Westfield loss, Agawam rolled through the rest of the league. They drew West Side in the semi-finals of the playoffs and pasted them. They topped off their season with a finals victory over Westfield. The locals whipped them by 17 points.

The mainstay of the team were players Paul Scoville, Paul Fetherston, Ray Leclair, Tim Lockwood, Mike Chausse, Jim Hanson, Nick Carra, Mike McGrath, Mike Avis, Don Hume, and Steve Milliken.

Mike Avis, Don Hume, and Steve Milliken.

"The biggest thing we saw was that the kids proved they can play with the competition. Even if they fell behind during the game, unlike last season, they were able to come back and win," noted Hersey. "A few games into the season it was apparent Agawam was the team to beat."

There were three other Agawam boys' basketball teams that partcipated this summer. All three were in the Springfield Summer Basketball League. According to Hersey, the younger hoopsters from Agawam were also more than competitive.

There were two 16-under teams. One was coached by Rene Trudel and Jack Patterson, and the other by Dave Peterson. The 14-under squad was coached by George Fogg, John Hyland, and Art Serra.

Stefanik On Top At Riverside's Big 200-Lap Feature

It was the biggest event of the 1984 Nascar Winston Racing Series at the Riverside Park Speedway on Satur-'day, August 24th.

A standing room only crowd witnessed one of the best entertainment packages in short track Nascar Auto Racing. The event was called the Winston 200 and was co-sponsored by Quaker State Motor Oil ($500), PUP Tent ($300), and Budweiser ($1,200).

There were four lead changes in the event. Gary Barnes of Canton, Connecticut, led the first 26 laps, before Ted Riggott of Hartland, Connecticut, took the lead on the outside.

Riggott, with his new sponsor, Finishline Cafe, looked strong until lap 64 when Stan Greger of Southington took over the lead. Greger was the class of the field, in the Febriello-Pelly Racing Cavalier. Greger led with the Riverdale Chrysler-sponsored car for 122 laps. On lap 185 Greger was forced to pit with a flat and lost the lead and a lap.

It was then Mike Stefanik of Greenwich, Rhode Island, to overtake the lead in the Jack Koszela Woodchopper Special. It was the first visit ever for the team and the Marek Engineering-sponsored Cavalier. Stefanik still had his hands full as he was challenged and pressured to the checker by Mike McLaughlin of Waterloo, last year's winner of the event. Last year, Stefanik finished second as this year it was reversed. Third was the Southwick Motors Cavalier of John Rosati; fourth, after an early accident, was Reggie Ruggiero of Forestville, Connecticut, driver of the Perry-Greci number 11 Cavalier.

Rounding out the top five was Marty Radewick of Agawam. Rounding out the top ten were S. J. Evonsion, Jerry Marquis, Ray Miller, Stan Greger, and Wade Cole.

For Stefanik, it was his first win for the new Koszela built car. The win was worth $2500. "I want to thank Precision Automotive, and my friends and family," said the popular driver, who is known as "Mighty Mike

There were 10 cautions in the event. Most of them were for minor spins. Heat races, sponsored by the PUP Tent, Quaker State Motor Oil, and Budweiser were won by Frank Mnich, Mike McLaughlin, Ted Riggott, and Jack Lecuyer. The heats paid four positions in bonus

In the Pro Stock feature event of 25 laps, paying $600 for first, it was Ed Lavoie of Vernon, Connecticut, scoring a victory in the Ellington Auto Parts Camaro. Lavoie was really deserving of the victory and held off Fran Colson in the Coors sponsored Firebird.

Third went to Paul Suprenant; fourth, Mike Stefanik; and fifth, Jerry Marquis. The top drivers were followed by Mark Forino, Pete Fiandaca, Bob Beckman, John Bergenty, and Ted Hebert.

"It's been a real tough season. Last year we had two wins at Riverside. With one event left this year, we get our first win," said Lavoie. "I owe the victory to my family and friends."

Dan Delena of New Britain, Connecticut, scored his third win in the Streets, as rookie driver Jeff Preece scored his best finish (second). Third went to Joe Hamm; fourth, Dan Lavoie; and fifth, John Lobo Jr. Sixth to 10th went to Tony Morehouse, Gary Fiormonti, Rob Jones, Wayne Thrall, and Dave Selleck

Saturday is the final point race of 1985, a 50-lap event for the Nascar Modifieds, with the Pro Stocks and the Street Stocks.

Another Riverside Demo Derby September 1st

The management of Riverside Park Speedway in Agawam is in search of thousands of thrill seekers to witness total destruction and violence in a controlled environment, as 200 brave men will meet in head-tohead combat facing total destruction

The event will be an Automotive Demolition Derby like no other ever offered before. On Sunday, September 1st, at 7:00 p.m., Riverside Park Speedway will present the battlefield — a small posted area about the size of a basketball court.

The ring of destruction will be surrounded with log retaining barriers. Behind them, positioned for the final clean-up, will be two fork-lift type loaders and a bucketloader. The event will have two ambulances ready and trained to handle any type of a situation.

Riverside's Demo Program will feature four 25 car qualifying events. These heats will feature these cars lined up back to back, waiting for the "Killer Count Down," a count down announced by the fans and of-

The object of the competition is to destroy the other guy before he destroys you. Anything can happen and possibly will. Warning: this program contains a great deal of violence and destruction.!

The object of the game is to be the last car running. Only the last car running will become a finalist in the featured main event. Each heat also has one additional competitor that must be selected by the fans who will represent them in the main event.

After the four heats, Riverside features a unique team-type "Team Demo," played in a football format. Both sides face-off with a Volkswagon positioned as the ball car. The object of this celebrity contest is to score by pushing the ball car to the far end of the field and then destroy the other team, until one car is left Riverside provides the competitors from each heat with a new car ready for the destruction of the feature event. Once again, the last car running becomes the overall winner and will receive $500 for his deathdefying display of courage.

Already, Riverside has over 100 entries set for the Sunday spectacular on September 1st. It's an event like no other; many have tried to copy the act, but Riverside has hosted it to capacity crowds time and time again.
